Research Internship (Summer-Fall)

Position

Advocacy Research Internship (unpaid)
Part-time Seasonal Internship (10-15 hours per week during fall, more during summer)

General Description

The main focus of the internship is expanding Delaware Nature Society’s Advocacy legislative agenda through research of national, state and local environmental issues. Past examples of research opportunities were state freshwater wetland regulations and state endangered species regulations. Every year Delaware Nature Society develops a list of priorities for the legislative session. Current issues include freshwater wetland and endangered species protection, sea-level rise, and the Chesapeake Bay pollution diet. The intern will work with the Advocate to research potential policy initiatives that will be drafted into “policy” papers for consideration of the Delaware Nature Society’s Advocacy Committee. The remainder of the intern’s experience is flexible, with possible options including: attending General Assembly committee meetings, public hearings, public events, etc.

To apply

For more information or to submit a resume with cover letter, please email Brenna Goggin, Advocacy Manager at Brenna@DelNature.org or call 302-239-2334 x 132.